Dublin, August 10. 1855

Dear Mr. Macy

Yesterday and this there I rec'd via Parker Pillsbury a letter from Mr. Chaffee in town and all items of business, dated April 2d, 1855. Was so much hurt thought and especially careless.
I have written to Mr. Estlack & Mrs Estlack about that in any subsequent of his which I could rather pay out of our own pocket than that Mr.
should have so much trouble about it.
When I hear from them I will make out a copy of my account with him in full - which I think gives with some few slight but one or two very trifling items; and then, if I am satisfied with its correctness, I will send him the money I have in my hands of yours and he will begin a fresh score. I will also try and write plainly. I take very great pains about these accounts - but it seems as if I was my luck to have them

Yr crooked

In haste Yours ever
